Forget your regular ocean views. Luxury travellers today want more.

Given the chaos of our busy lives, many of us seek a vacation that requires as little planning as possible but provides maximal rewards. Sure, an ocean view is nice to wake up to, but it doesn't afford the practical, luxurious ease travellers are searching for.

Imagine a vacation where you don't have to leave your room to revel in the beauty of your surroundings. A morning dip that doesn't require walking through a 2000 acre property to the beach to find that the only seats available are beside the family with the temperamental toddlers.

What if you could enjoy a pre-dinner cocktail with a view without having to get dressed and leave your room?

For this reason, private plunge pools have become an increasingly common trend in luxury travel.

So whether you're taking a morning dip before scouring the markets of Marrakech, enjoying a sunset swim and cocktails after a long day exploring coral reefs, or simply spending an entire day in the privacy of your luxurious abode doing absolutely nothing, here are the most luxurious private plunge pools around the world to get away from it all.
