

STYLISH & SUSTAINABLE: ASIA'S MOST LUXURIOUS ECO-FRIENDLY HOTELS

From the Indonesia to Vietnam, we round up the best luxury eco-friendly hotels for your next getaway in Asia.

Song Saa Private Island, Cambodia

With tropical reefs, white sandy beaches and magical sunsets, the private Cambodian island of Song Saa is the ideal destination for those looking to experience luxury, serenity and a deep connection with the environment. Built from local materials, by local hands, and infused with local arts and culture, the tropical getaway allows one to detach from the world and enjoy simple luxuries.

The Song Saa Foundation leads a number of programmes that aim to preserve the natural environment and improve the welfare of local communities. One example includes the coral nursery and tropical marine conservation programme which has been created to protect the ocean habitats and preserve the marine life. Striving to improve the lives of the local communities, the foundation's Boat of Hope provides much-needed medical care through outreach clinics and an annual International Medical Relief Mission.

See also: Siem Reap – Cambodia's most enigmatic attraction